For no worldly purpose, either of business or pleasure, have we left our several homes and travelled to this appointed place. We have come to consult how best we may promote that portion of the Redeemer s kingdom which has been committed to our trust; and also, to provoke one another and all who have come up with us, to love and good works. Let us approach the duty with deep humility, and a trembling solicitude that all we say and do, may redound to the glory of God. In rising to address you, I follow the old and venerable custom of taking a few of God s words, as my safe guide and strong authority. Surely none more suitable and impressive can be desired than those I have chosen. To do good and to communicate forget not; for with such sacrifices God is well pleased. And is there indeed any thing which we poor, sinful, dishonoured creatures, can do, to attract the favourable regard of the great Jehovah? Is there any one thing we can do of which it can be truly said, God is well pleased with it? Are we thus raised from our degradation and permitted to share with God the divine honor and felicity of doing good? Does the Almighty allow us to be co-workers together with him in the glorious privilege of dispensing happiness? Does not this appear...
